Dedication

We the Senior Class of 1952 wish to dedicate this annual to our loving parents. It is because of their efforts and understanding that we have been permitted to complete our high school education. During our school days they have been a guiding influence which we shall never forget. They have shared our disappointments as well as our happier moments and have continually been associated with our school activities. It is with a deep sense of pride that we dedicate our annual to our parents.

Now and Then

Class History

On a bright sunny morning in September 1939, twenty little cherubs happy but frightened entered the big brick schoolhouse for our first year of formal education. They were: Allen Anderson, Charles Chitty, Bobby Crosser, John Philip Danielson, Robert Peterson, Robert Wise, Beverly French, Norma Johnson, Mary Jean Kaufman, Dorothy Mae Meekins, Marilyn McNatton, Jo Ann Nelson, Thelma Smith, Mary Anne Larson, Katherine Turner, Florence Watt, Mary Watt, Martha Watt, Erma Wood, and Peggy Cross. Miss Ersland was our first teacher and she gave us a good start. It was the 18th primary class she had taught here and unfortunately we were the last.

The next year when we returned a new teacher, Miss De Vries awaited us at the door. There were only 16 of us now as Dorothy Mae Meekins, Peggy Cross and Erma Wood moved and Florence Watt flunked. During the year Dixie Lee Lunsdale moved in and then out again the same year and Mary and Martha Watt also moved.

The first semester of our 2nd grade teacher was Miss Peterson and then Mrs. Sorenson taught us the second semester when Miss Peterson left to get married. This year we inherited Alice Gluck from the grade ahead of us and Raymond See moved in. John Philip Danielson and Beverly French left us for greener pastures.

Due to the death of Mrs. Sorenson's husband, Mrs. Santee, the former Miss Peterson, who taught the first semester of second grade, returned to teach us in third grade. During the year William Haastedt moved in and Viola Borton decided she wanted to try this grade over again.

Wyola Hagen joined us for a time during fourth grade and Miss Marken was our teacher.

Our new fifth grade teacher was Mrs. Caskey. Bobby Crosser left us for Cambridge and Florine Borton and Marvel Huff joined our little group which now numbered fourteen.

Mrs. Caskey returned for our sixth grade year and the only changes in our grade this year were the addition of Frances Breezley and the subtraction of Marilyn McNatton who dropped out because of illness.

The following year we moved across the hall where Mrs. Talbott was awaiting our arrival. That year Florine Borton left our presence in favor of Milford and there were eleven of us to continue on to the eighth grade. Mrs. Talbott was able to stand us one more year, so she continued on as our teacher. Marvel Huff moved away that year, leaving ten of us to graduate from the eighth grade. They were: Allen Anderson, Frances Breezley, Charles Chitty, Norma Johnson, Mary Jean Kaufman, Mary Anne Larson, Jo Ann Nelson, Thelma Smith, Katherine Turner, and Bob Wise.

During the summer, Frances Breezley moved, leaving only nine of us to enter High School as Green Freshmen. Bobby Hall and Duane Meyer both joined us and dropped out during this year. Bill Wright also joined us along with his father who was our new superintendent. Our other teachers were Mrs. Stith and Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis.

Ten of us advanced on to the Sophomore class where we enjoyed initiating the green freshmen. In the spring Joe Wright, our superintendent left us and took his son Bill from our class, leaving only nine of us. Mr. Tyler and Mr. Hahn finished out the year as superintendent. Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis were still here and Mrs. Hansen replaced Mrs. Stith.

There were nine of us left to carry on the Junior activities. We were joined in mid-year by Mary and Martha Watt who returned to our class after ten years absence increasing our number to eleven. We had all new teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Forbes, Mrs. Chitty, and Mr. Martin. The highlight of the year was planning and giving the Junior-Senior Banquet. Norma Johnson moved to Nevada at the end of the year but finished out the year in F.H.S.

There were ten of us who started the final stretch of our education in the Senior year. Our new teachers were Mr. Begg and Mr. and Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Chitty returned. Of course the most important event of the year was when we received our diplomas. All ten of us who graduated had started school together. They were: Allen Anderson, Charles Chitty, Mary Jean Kaufman, Mary Anne Larson, Jo Ann Nelson, Thelma Smith, Katherine Turner, Bob Wise, Mary and Martha Watt. Although we have had some tough spots we have also had many happy moments and it will be with mixed emotions that we leave good old F.H.S.

Class Prophecy

After 18 long years of being President of Fernald University, Mr. and Mrs. Begg decided it was time for a well deserved vacation. Loading their twelve kids into their five passenger 1949 Ford they set off on the first leg of their journey which was to take them throughout the universe. As they traveled toward New York the trip was quite uneventful until Mrs. Begg suddenly demanded that Mr. Begg turn the car around immediately. She believed she had seen a face she recognized. Sure enough, smiling down from a big billboard, with her now famous Pepsodent smile of beauty, was JoAnn Nelson, a Fernald alumnus. As they continued on their journey they saw JoAnn's face reappear several times.

After arriving in the big city Mrs. Begg decided she would like a few new dresses before visiting the planets. They were directed to "Madam Mabelle's" for the latest in universal designs. Upon entering the store they were astonished to be confronted by the manager who was none other than Mabelle Chitty, the former home economics teacher back at F.H.S. After a lengthy visit Mabelle told them that Mr. and Mrs. Miller were also in New York conducting the Miller Conservatory of Music. After leaving Mabelle's little fashion shop they went to see the Millers at the music school. Upon entering the office they were greeted by a distinguished gentleman whom they recognized as Mr. Miller, the former coach at Fernald. He was very glad to see Mr. and Mrs. Begg and their twelve children, and he quickly called Mrs. Miller who was teaching a voice student. After telling the Millers about the plans to take a trip throughout the universe Mr. and Mrs. Begg decided that it was time to leave for the airport.

Upon arrival at the Idlewild Airport, headquarters for the Trans-Planet Rocketways, they purchased fourteen tickets and were ready to leave. As they ascended the stair to the Rocketship they heard a familiar little giggle and looking up discovered Mary Jean Kaufman who was the stewardess. She told them that she had been with the Rocketways since they were founded in 1965. She helped them slip on their space suits and they were ready to take off for the first planet, Mercury. There was a sudden jolt and they were off, gliding through space. As they passed the moon Mr. and Mrs. Begg reminisced about their old courting days when they had spent many hours studying (ha! ha!) the features of the moon. Now they could see a real close-up of the earth's satellite.

As they landed on Mercury they were happy to get to stretch their legs and look around. A big limousine from the travel agency took them for a trip across the planet. They stopped at a big agricultural university and they were greeted by the head of the Agricultural Department, who was none other than Charles Chitty. Chuck told them about accepting the position at the University of Mercury after he graduated from Iowa State College. He was teaching the most up-to-date methods of farming with horses and hand-plows as they were not as modern as on Earth. It was time to leave so they bade farewell to Chuck and took off again in the Rocket plane.

Their next stop was on the planet Venus. A guide was showing them around a modern Venus city and they stopped at a fashionable modeling agency where they saw JoAnn Nelson. She had become the highest paid model in the agency because of her famous smile and flashing figure. They had a nice talk with JoAnn, of course, was entermingled very often with JoAnn's friendly little giggle. Decidig it was time to leave they said good-by to JoAnn and continued on their journey.

Their next stop was Mars, where they saw a royal pageant in progress. The parade was beautiful and the new queen's attendants were royally attired. A murmur spread through the crowd as the newly crowned queen came into view and proved to be none other than Thelma Smith. After Thelma talked to them for awhile she had to give a speech to her new subjects so the Begg family decided they would be on their way. Thelma provided them with a royal escort back to their waiting rocket ship, where they took off for the planet Jupiter.

After arriving on Jupiter, Mr. and Mrs. Begg, being lovers of music, dedced to attend an opera. After purchasing their tickets to the opera house, they took their seats and sat back to enjoy the music. When the male star of the show appeared they seemed to recognize the rich, mellow voice, however, because of the make-up they could not tell who the singer was. Looking on their program they were surprised to learn that it was Allen Anderson. Allen had received his preliminary music training back at old F.H.S. and since has been with the Juperpolitan Opera Company. After the opera was over they went back-stage and had a nice chat with Allen. Then after looking over the planet Jupiter in Allen's private plane they decided they must be on their way.

The next stop was the planet Saturn. As the big space ship approached the planet there was a sudden crash and the big ship lurched uncertainly in space. It had struck one of the rings surrounding Saturn. The pilot very skillfully landed the ship where a mechanics crew rushed out to patch up the battered ship. Heading the crew, with a wrench in one hand and an oil can in the other was Mary Anne Larson. Mary Anne took time out from her duties to talk with the Beggs. She told them that while taking a Home Economics Journalism course she had become interested in mechanics and decided to make that her profession. She had been employed by the air lines for some time.

After the space ship was repaired they took off for the planet Neptune. This time the pilot was more careful when he came to the rings surrounding the planet and they were off without mishap. As they arrived on the planet Neptune they noticed that it was less civilized than the other planets. It was the Arkansas of the Universe. Very intrigued by the backward nature of the surroundings they decided to explore the planet a little more. While traveling in a very backward section they discovered a little shack perched on the hillside. Upon further investigation they saw a family of sixteen living in the shack. They decided they would like to learn more about the farm life on Neptune so they went up to the little house. Much to their surprise they were greeted by Martha Watt. She was glad to see her former superintendent. She told Mr. and Mrs. Begg that she had married an Iowa farmer and they had obtained a homestead on Neptune. In the process they had raised fourteen kids. Martha invited the Beggs in for supper but they declined because the space ship was due to leave in a few minutes. They hurried back to the space port and were on their way.

The next stop was Uranus and upon arriving they set out for their customary visit of the planet. Since it was Sunday they stopped in a little country church. Much to their surprise they noticed that the lady leading the singing was Mary Watt. After the service they had a nice talk with Mary. She told them that she had been sent to Hulacadula, Uranus as a missionary. She was enjoying her work very much and the Begg family were glad to see that she was happily situated. After leaving Mary they set off for the next planet Pluto.

After arriving in Pluto they were cruising around a modern city taking in the sites when they heard a familiar voice coming over the car radio. They recognized the voice as that of Bob Wise, another F.H.S. graduate. He was broadcasting the baseball game between the Pluto Pirates and the New York Yankees in the newly organized Universal League. Mr. and Mrs. Begg and the family decided they would like to see a ball game so they went out to the park. After seeing the Pluto Pirates trounce the Yankees they went up to the broadcasting booth to see Bob. Of course he was happy to see them and talked with them for some time. After taking a radio major in college he had been employed by U.B.S., the Universal Broadcasting System. Bob told them that Katherine Turner was the owner of the Pluto Pirates and he took them to the president's office to see Katherine. She too was happy to see her former teacher and the four of them had a lengthy talk reminiscing about the good old days at F.H.S. Katherine told them that she had married a baseball player and then had purchased the Pluto Pirates. Her husband was now managing the team. After staying for a few more ball games they discovered that the summer was almost gone and it was time they were getting back to Fernald for the new school year. So packing their twelve kids into the Rocket ship for the final lap of their trip, they were homeward bound, happy to have seen the entire graduating class of 1952.

Picture Day

On the rainy morning of October 17, 1951 the Senior Class and Mr. and Mrs. Begg journeyed to Waterloo where we had our pictures taken at the National Studios.

Upon arriving we were introduced to the photographer and after being shown to our dressing rooms, proceeded to do our last minute primping.

After meeting everyone's approval, Mr. Begg was chosen as the first victim. The boys followed next in line and after final inspection in front of the mirror the girls took their turn in front of the camera.

After completing arrangements for several tours we went to Bishop's Cafeteria where we ate our lunch.

After our hunger was satisfied we went to the John Deere plant. After several unsuccessful attempts at parking we finally found a certain place that met the approval of a policeman. We then went into the factory where we were introduced to our guides. Each of us received a pair of heavy steel rimmed glasses. We then started on our trip through the factory where we were shown how they molded iron, the completed parts, the assembly line, the paint department and the final testing rooms. When we returned to the mail office we thanked our guides for their time and interesting explanation and started on the next lap of our tour.

At this time we went to the KXEL Radio Station. We visited the news room, the record shop, and the broadcasting rooms. We also saw the teletype machines in action and were shown through the different offices.

After leaving the radio station we drove around Waterloo and then went to the Steak House where we were served a delicious chicken dinner, the compliments of the National Studio.

To complete the evening, a very full and somewhat tired group went to the show "A Place in the Sun."

After a very enjoyable day we started home.

Skip Day

Monday, May 12, we Seniors went to Des Moines for our Skip Day.

Upon arriving in Des Moines the day began with a trip through the City Police Station and the jail. One of the most interesting things we saw was a trial presided over by Municipal Court Judge Grund.

Dinner came next and we had a picnic at Grandview Park where we completely demolished our supply of food. Deciding we needed some exercise, we drove the cars to the Driving Range where we tried our hand at golf. By this time we were pretty well worn out so we proceeded to find something more restful. We took a "refreshing" cruise through the city slums, then returning to the RKO Orpheum Theater, we saw a double feature "My Six Convicts" and "Whirlwind." After considerable debate on how to get to Riverview Park, we finally reached our destination. While we were there we had several thrilling rides on the roller-coaster and ferris wheel. We then visited the penny arcade, and various other concessions. After having a quick ride around the lake in a speed boat we left Riverview Park for Palmas Drive In where we ate our evening meal. Having satisfied our hunger, we drove to the Cool Crest Miniature Golf Course where we made use of our practice we had obtained in the afternoon. When the eighteen holes had been completed, we went to another show. This one was entitled "Mara Maru" and although a few people slept through it, most of it was very good. It was midnight when the show was over and after eating once more, this time at the Town and Country Grill near Ankeny, we started for home. Although we were all very tired by this time, we still agreed that we'd had the most perfect Skip Day anyone could ever wish for.

Maw Belsnickle—the demanding mother .....	Katherine Turner
Ceelia Belsnickle—daughter 19 .....	Mary Jean Kaufman
Bonnie Mae Belsnickle—daughter 18 .....	Thelma Smith

Five Belsnickle—daughter 13 .....	Mary Watt

Ronald Maxwell—medical student, 25 .....	Bob Wise
Lucy Maxwell—Ronald's haughty aunt ...	Jo Ann Nelson
The Reverend—valley's only minister .....	Gay Huhn
Cousin Zeke—relative of Belsnickle's .....	Ray Couser

STORY OF THE PLAY

Paw Belsnickle is a man with a problem. Rather SIX problems—in the form of six unmarried daughters. Juney Lou, his third daughter, is a pretty girl who wants to marry Homer Upschlager. Since he wants to marry her at first glimpse the solution may seem simple. But No!! Maw Belsnickle has decided Juney Lou cannot be married until Ceelia, a ripe old nineteen, and Bonnie Mae, the bookworm, are safely married off. She elects paw to get husbands for them. Paw takes his shotgun off the wall with a very simple method of procuring the necessary husbands in mind. He decides to "wing" them, pick out the buckshot, and have them married to his daughters before they know what has happened. Bonnie Mae, however, declares that method is out of style and balks at the entire idea of getting married. Ceelia is far more interested in her pet rattlesnakes than a husband but she is perfectly willing to get married. She is, in fact, willing to do anything but take a bath. In the midst of Paw's husband chasing, Ronald Maxwell, a medical student, and his aunt arrive at the Belsnickles' mountain cabin. They are touring through the hills and their car has broken down. Temporarily they seek shelter at the cabin. Both Ceelia and Bonnie Mae are attracted to the handsome stranger. Bonnie Mae keeps her adoration secret. Ceelia, however, demands that Paw capture Ronald Maxwell for her. She utterly refuses to marry anyone else. That presents a major problem since Ceelia is the dirtiest, homeliest hillbilly girl in the Valley. Paw gets his trusty gun, but, unfortunately, misses Ronald. Two neighbors (male and unmarried) decide that the handsome stranger loose among the Valley's most attractive girls is a menace they must do away with. They decide to fake a feud to scare him away. Maw won't allow Paw to take another shot at Ronald so he, ignorant of the other plan, also decides to fake a feud and shoot a husband for Ceelia under the protective curtain of fire. Both sides determine to use poor Ceelia as bait. It's all a merry mix-up from there on!! They have a bigger feud than anyone dreamed; the rattlesnakes escape in the cabin; someone is bitten (or pretends to be) and Paw finally forces Ronald to the altar with Ceelia. Just in the nick of time Bonnie Mae rescues Ronald; Ceelia finds a husband who really wants her and it's a happy ending for all concerned.

GANGAWAY FOR GHOSTS

The Fernald High School Junior Class Play was presented October 31, 1951 in the high school auditorium. The gym was filled to capacity and the crowd enjoyed the performance.

To Storm Heights, a rambling old mansion on the crest of a cliff overlooking the Hudson, comes Sally, accompanied by her admirer, String Beane, a nervous lad, who believes in giving ghosts plenty of gangway. She is pursuing a charming young actress, Gayla Grande, to demand of her why she has broken her engagement to Brother Hal. But Gayla can only plead a mysterious tragedy in her life, because of which she is on the verge of a nervous breakdown and has fled for refuge to Storm Heights, with her colored maid, Posy May, who has "de galloping creeps on account of spooks."

Sally, who has taken a detective correspondence course, soon has her hands full of detecting. Storm Heights is occupied by the eccentric spinster, Hester Storm, her neurotic housekeeper, Minnie Brill, and her appalling butler, the one-eyed Peters. It proves to be haunted by a couple of blood-chilling phantoms; Ethan Storm, a violin maker, and his gypsy bride, whom he murdered in order to entomb her golden voice in a master-violin.

Junior - Senior Banquet

The theme "Beyond the Blue Horizon" was carried out during the Fernald Junior-Senior banquet, which was held Saturday evening, May 10. We were hosts to the ten senior members and high school faculty at the airport in Des Moines. The occasion being formal, the girls were dressed in beautiful formals and corsages, and the boys were attired in their best suits and boutonnières. A three-course meal was served in the Cloud room. The menu included:

Fruit Cocktail
Swiss Steak		Peas
Whipped Potatoes (with gravy)		Relish Plate
Tossed Spring Salad
Apple Pie	IceCream	Beverage

The following program was carried on throughout the meal with Mr. Begg presiding as toastmaster:

Mixed Quartet	..... Blue Skies
Solo	..... Dean Handsaker, "Beyond the Blue Horizon"

A day most anticipated by both Freshmen and Sophomores was September 21. On this day, twelve, very, very green Freshies came hopping into the schoolhouse and were dressed as the months of the year. The day began with the Sophomores decorating the Freshmen with an assortment of grease paint and lipstick. The unfortunate underclassmen were then told what they were to do the remainder of the day.

After having a joyous day of teasing and pestering the Freshmen, the entire high school and faculty were ready to have the Freshmen perform before them in the evening. The first great event, and probably the most dreaded, was the paddle line, during which the Freshmen on their hands and knees were given a "big bang." Following this were many different performances such as: having an egg shampoo, running handicap races, proposing, eating "spiced" sandwiches, eating chocolate pudding without hands, getting a little shock from an electric battery, and many other most amusing events. The Sophomores then served lunch with the Freshies (not green anymore by all means) certainly enjoyed. The remainder of the evening was spent by cleaning up the entire mess and then journeying home after a most joyous time.

Return Party

On the evening of October 3, 1951, the Freshmen gave a return party to the high school students.

Instead of the usual party given at the school house, we decided to have a hay ride. We started from the school house on our journey. After abiding by the old saying, "the longest way is the best way," we arrived at our destination, in Guy Handsaker's timber. After everyone had climbed over the fence we made our way to the fireplace. All the table manners were forgotten as we stood around the fireplace roasting and eating wieners and marshmallows. When everyone was through eating we started home. The back wagon seemed to have more than its share of the group. The party ended with cheerful "good-bye's."
